How to read your Scholars Online invoice, and pay for membership, registration and tuition by check, Zelle, or by using our secure online PayPal Feature

SCHOLARS ONLINE

Scholars Online allows you to pay for membership, registration, and tuition by check, PayPal account (including using your own credit card), or Zelle transfer. All fees are due according to the Tuition and Fees schedule on the of the website. Membership fees must be paid before members (parents and students) will be allowed access to the Moodle. Registration and tuition must be paid before students are allowed to attend chats for their courses.

SCHOLARS ONLINE

Your invoice for the current enrollment year is always available on our secure website from your Account Management Center.

If enrollment is open for the new year but you are paying for a tutorial or have arranged a payment schedule into the school year, your invoice for the current year will display separately with payment options.

If you were a member in a previous enrollment year, your past invoices will also be available from the "Summary Invoice" button.

A screenshot of a web interface showing a menu titled "Invoice and Payment Options". The menu contains three buttons: "Invoice for 2024-2025", "Invoice for 2023-2024", and "Invoice for Prior Years". Three red arrows point from the text on the left to these buttons: one to the top button, one to the middle button, and one to the bottom button.

Invoice and Payment Options

- Invoice for 2024-2025
- Invoice for 2023-2024
- Invoice for Prior Years

SCHOLARS ONLINE

The online invoice has three major sections:

- ▶ Current charges and credits for membership, registration, and enrollments, listed by member, and total amount currently due for the member
- ▶ Payment history and credits applied as scholarships or teacher waivers, or for Early Bird registration.
- ▶ Total fees, registration, and tuition due for the year, all credits and payments applied, and outstanding amount left.

Payment and credits history

1. Payments received from you will be listed by date and time processed by the Accounts manager). Type will show as check, Zelle, or PayPal. How the payment was applied to individual student memberships, registrations, or course tuitions will also be noted.
2. Individual teacher contractors, or the Scholars Online administration, may grant tuition waivers. The SO Board of Directors also grants scholarships to students based on demonstrated financial need. All non-payment credits will be listed in the Special Credits section, and applied as offsets to individual classes. In this case, no scholarships or teacher waivers were awarded.

3. Use PayPal

If you wish to use a credit card or your PayPal account, click on the PayPal Checkout button. We no longer offer predetermined installment amounts or designer amount payments, since these are more easily handled with Zelle.

Note that unless you have made specific arrangements with the Accounts office for installment payments after the start of classes, you must pay all fees prior to the start of the session. Please contact accounts@scholarsonline.org if you need to make such arrangements.

PayPal

Scholars Online no longer offers partial payment options through PayPal. Your entire current invoice amount will be used for each PayPal payment. However, once on the PayPal site, PayPal offers installment payments over a short period without fees, or over a longer period, but they may charge interest.

Tuition for all current enrollments has been paid.

PayPal Payment Options

If you chose to use PayPal, the current total outstanding amount will be charged.

You may pay this amount using your own PayPal account.

You may also chose the Pay Later option, which allows you to make arrangements with PayPal for installment payments at your convenience. Please note that these installments will then be invoiced and handled through PayPal, which may charge interest for this service.

You may also use a debit or credit card to pay through this option, without a PayPal account.

How do I know you've received my payment?

1. If you pay using Zelle, your payment should be confirmed by your bank within a few minutes, and we will receive notification of the payment.
2. If you pay using PayPal, you will receive an email from PayPal containing the amounts and fees paid as soon as you complete your transaction. We will receive the same information.
3. When we receive your payment by Zelle, PayPal, or check, we will manually update your invoice information at your account management center to ensure that your membership fees, registration fees, and tuition payments are properly assigned.

Note that crediting your account is not an automated process. We review every payment to ensure that you receive proper credit, especially if there are special circumstances, such as installment payments, or you have received teacher credits or scholarships.. While we try to be as timely as possible, during peak enrollment periods, this action may take up to 2 days after we receive your check or notification of payment. If we have any questions about your payment, we will contact you to verify proper distribution of your funds against your outstanding fees.

You will receive a confirmation email showing when your payment was processed and how it was distributed as soon as we update your invoice data.

What if I need a refund?

1. Membership fees and registration fees are not refundable. Your membership remains in place for the entire year, and you have access to the Moodle and open classes we offer.
2. The amount of any tuition refund is determined by the tuition and fees refund policy published on our website.
3. If you paid using PayPal and request your refund within 60 days, we will refund the appropriate amount through PayPal. If you paid by Zelle or by check, Scholars Online will send a check to the address we have on record.

Questions? Concerns? Changes?

There are many ways to contact Scholars Online administration and teachers.

1. Use the "Support" link in the "About Us" dropdown menu find out how to contact us for specific inquiries about academic policies, billing, account access, curriculum planning, or technical problems with Moodle access. With this information you can email administration, accounting, technical, and academic support; mail paperwork to administration, or phone technical and academic support.
2. Use the teacher's name in any course description or the teachers biography page to contact a teacher with questions about course content.
3. Use the FOOTER links on any page to email the administration office or the Webmistress with issues.

We will use the lectures Michael Faraday delivered in 1861 as a starting point to discuss scientific methods and experimentation, chemical composition of wax, combustion reactions, forces and energy, and the history of the human scientific endeavor. Faraday is still regarded as one of the greatest experimental scientists of all time, and his lectures are filled with his excitement over the wonders of natural phenomena, as well as detailed observations on the behavior of elements like hydrogen, oxygen, and carbon, and practical demonstrations of experimental observational methods.

All students will perform several of Faraday's
